A SCRAP OF LOCAL HISTORY

The Days of Lewis the Robber Recalled by Recent Events.

OPERATED IN THE SEVEN MOUNTAINS

Away Back in the Early Days of the 18th Century—Daring Robberies Committed by these Men—Finally Captured by Sheriff's Posse.

LEWIS DIED IN BELLEFONTE JAIL

The capture recently of four alleged burglars by Sheriff Taylor in the Seven Mountains recalls similar events of early days.

We republish from old files of the Republican the following account of the doings of Lewis and Connelly :

In June 1820, the neighborhood of Potter's Mills was disturbed by the noted robbers Lewis and Connelly, who lurked in the Seven Mountains and made incursions for plunder. Lewis was the son of Lewis Lewis, who was a surveyor in Nittany Valley as early as 1775, under Charles Lykens. The terror in that neighborhood for some weeks was unbounded and its shadows still linger in the traditions of the valley. Night after night men patrolled the valley, while the women shuddered and trembled at any approaching footstep.

Hammond & Page, merchants of Bellefonte, were receiving at that time a stock of goods. They had three teams hauling them. One in particular being loaded with the costliest goods, in crossing the Seven mountains broke down, and it being late, they drove on to John Carr's tavern at Potter's Mills with the remaining wagons. Lewis and his party overhauled the goods and took such as suited them, and then started for Potters Mills, with the intention of robbing Potter's store, but John Carr observed them at the shutters, and they fled and were followed by the few that could be gathered. Paul Lebo, a very active man, outran the rest so for that Lewis and Connelly, who had secreted them captured Lebo, and Connelly almost choked him to death and only at the earnest request of Lewis released him Their were next heard of at or near Col. McKibbeens, where they were diverting themselves on Sunday shooting marks.

Word was immediately sent to Bellefonte and search commenced. William Alexander, Ex-Sheriff started down Nittany Valley to collect men to go by way of the Great Island, and James McGhee, coroner of Centre county, with a posse, started by way of Karthaus to meet the other party at Lewis' mother, on Bennett's branch of the Sinnemahoning. They proceeded as far as Karthaus that night, deviating from the direct route to obtain a guide, who was Andy Walker, as he was familiarly called, a great hunter in the Bald Eagle.

The night they were at Karthaus, McQuire was captured on the Great Island, which led the rest to burn part of their spoils divide the rest, and to separate. On the 29th, McGhee's party lost their way and encamped in the woods. On the morning of the 30th, they struck Trout Run, which empties into Bennetts Branch. Walker and Karnell started ahead to see if Lewis had made his appearance at his mothers and finding that he had not, they joined the rest of the party that night and crossed over the Driftwood Branch opposite Shepherd's and upon inquiry found that two men answering the description of Lewis and Connelly had breakfasted there. The party accompanied by Shepherd, proceeded up the Driftwood Branch about 8 miles, and not being satisfied that these were the men returned down the stream.

5 miles below a man named Brooks who had passed Lewis and another man volunteered to guide them to them. They soon came within hearing of the robbers who were shooting mark. Brooks took them to an eminence which overlooked and commanded their proceedings, and McGhee demanded their surrender. Their reply was, "Shoot and be dammed! We'll shoot back." Connelly escaped to the bank of the river, when he was struck by a ball which cut the rim of his abdomen, causing his entrails to protrude.

The prisoners were conveyed to the Great Island, where they arrived July 2nd. Connelly died that night, and was buried near Great Island Cemetery (Lock Haven). Peter Deisal was said to be the one whose bullet ended Connelly's life. David Lewis was conveyed to Bellefonte, where, refusing to have his arm amputated, he died in jail on the 13th of July. His remains were taken to Milesburg for burial.

Felix McGuire, the other robber, was tried August 29th, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary at Philadelphia after the expiration of his term in the Franklyn County jail, out of which he had broken, and he was ordered to be delivered to the sheriff of Franklyn County.

Governor Findlay, during his term, pardoned Lewis, who had been convicted of some offense, and the confession of David Lewis, edited, it is alleged by James Duncan, of Carlisle, was printed as a campaign document, and contributed largely to Governor Findlay's defeat. Duncan was appointed Autrar General April 2, 1891, by Governor Heister. The confession states that Lewis was born in March 4, 1790 at Carlisle.

DARING AFFAIR AT HOUTZDALE.

In Broad Day-light a Villain Binds Mrs. Miles O'Rourke and Secures Over $1,000.

A most daring robbery took place at West Houtzdale Sunday morning about 11 o'clock, creating the most intense excitement.

Just a little after Miles O'Rourke had started to mass a strange man made his appearance at his home, when no one was present but Mrs. O'Rourke, who has for some time been virtually an invalid. The stranger asked for something to eat. She had him to be seated at the stock and out of the kindness of her [illegible] "Well is getting a lunch ready for him [illegible] "Stepping for a moment to the [illegible] us to get a few buns, the villain [illegible] dier to the door, and after locking her [illegible] thoroughly, ransacked [illegible] house. Failing to get any money, [illegible] opened the pantry door, dragged [illegible] body up stairs and under severe [illegible] made her divulge the whereabouts of $1,080, which he put in his pocket. Still believing that there was more money about the house, he dragged his victim down stairs, bound her to a chair and placed a burning lamp under her feet to make her confess the whereabouts of the balance of the money which he said he knew was about the premises somewhere. Her screams, and the upsetting of the chair made such a noise that he feared he would be detected and the villain hastily departed, making good his escape. When the facts became known great excitement prevailed and crowds started in every direction to run down the scoundrel, but as yet he has not been captured.

One man was arrested at Ramey but he established his innocency and was liberated.

Mrs. O'Rourke, as a result of her sad experience with the villain, was very much prostrated, but is slowly recovering.

PENNSYLVANIA RESERVES.

Want the Legislature to Appropriate Money for a Monument to Governor Curtin.

The "roundup" of the famous Pennsylvania Reserves began in Harrisburg last Wednesday, and closed Thursday evening, after which many of the veterans visited the Gettysburg battlefield There are still living about 4,000 reserves and of these 400 were here to participate in the "roundup" and the reunions of the various regimental organizations.

A meeting of the Pennsylvania Reserves association was held Wednesday morning, at which Colonel Robert M. Henderson, of Carlisle, was elected president, to succeed General John P. Taylor, of Reedsville, who declined a re-election.

Resolutions were adopted authorizing Colonel Henderson to appoint a committee of fifteen, one from each regimental association, to petition the next legislature to appropriate funds for the erection of a monument to Governor Curtin in Capitol park, Harrisburg.

[By the way what has become of the Soldier's Monument and Curtin Memorial to be erected in Public Square. It seems to have dropped out of sight altogether.—Ed.]

Had a Sun Stroke.

Mr. and Mrs. Darius Blair and little child drove to town Wednesday morning from Stormstown and when passing F. P. Blair's jewelry store Mrs. Blair was overcome by the heat of the sun and fell in fainting condition to the pavement. She was lifted into Mr. Blair's store and medical attendance secured. After regaining consciousness and feeling a little better she was conveyed to her brother, Charles L. Gates home on Lamb Street.

INTERESTING AFTERMATH.

Latest Developments in Regard to Captured Burglars.

HISTORY OF THE OLD FAUST HOTEL

Wounded Man Alleged to be James Lewis who Was Sentenced from Williamsport for P. O. Robbery.

DREAMED AND FOUND SILVER

There is an abundance of interesting aftermath following in the wake of the capture of the four bandits a week ago last Saturday by Sheriff Taylor and posse in the wilds of the Seven Mountains.

Believing it of interest to our readers we have at considerable trouble and research gathered together a brief history of the historic old Faust Hotel property where the burglars were captured.

It dates back to the days of the earliest settlers. The ground for it was cleared by one Alexander Cameron when there was no road across just an Indian path. Later when the turnpike went through it was purchased by Samuel Brown of Lancaster county who built a log house and called "The Black Bear Hotel".

In 1835 it was purchased by Major George Faust who came to this section from Union county and who had gained the title of major in a home battalion. The house was burned in 1843 and then he put up a large frame house containing thirteen rooms and two large halls.

Faust was married to Catherine Lewis of Perry County who died in 1848. There were twelve children. Two were soldiers and one was killed in the Civil war at the age of 17. The children who are dead are Rebecca, Mary, Harrison, John, George, Wm. and Roland.

Four are living as follows: Mrs. Anna Hartman, a soldiers widow, of Potters Mills; Esther, wife of David Lingle, Howard and James of Beech, Centre county.

Major Faust was a character in his day and his hostelry was an old land mark famous and popular for miles around. Raftsmen from Clearfield going down the river always stopped here coming home. These were its palmy days. This was called the half way house. All grain and store goods were carted across this mountains between Lewistown and Bellefonte, all the teamsters used to stop over night here. In the barn in which Sheriff Taylor captured the four burglars the old stage line between Lewistown and this place used to stable their horses.

The hotel was located 3 miles from Potters Mills and 5 from Milroy, on the west side of the Lewistown and Bellefonte pike between Ball Mountain and Sand Mountain. It was called the Seven Mountain Hotel or the Old Faust homestead. It was destroyed by fire in 1902.

Many interesting stories can be told of this old hostelry and an air of mystery and romance hovers about the place. It was in the olden days a licensed hotel where you could buy whiskey for 5cts a glass and where they sold all kinds of liquor out of the same bottle. It was a great resort for the young people and parties used to drive there from Mifflin and Centre counties and hold dances.

It was in this region that Lewis and Connelly committed some of their most daring depredations and it is said that several men have disappeared in this vicinity and were never heard of afterwards.

Major Faust was a religious man as is evidenced by the fact that the older people recall the Sunday School he used to conduct up in the mountains in the open air. It was called the Cold Stream Sunday School and was largely attended. The Major was the Superintendent.

[For the data in the above interesting article we are indebted to our friend J. Frank McCoy, of Potters Mills—Ed.]

WOUNDED BURGLAR IDENTIFIED.

The wounded burglar James Getwalt alias Showalter alias Lewis was taken from the Bellefonte Hospital Tuesday afternoon to the County jail. He is getting better fast. It is now alleged that he is James Lewis, who was sent to the Western penitentiary by the U. S. court at Williamsport in the fall of 1897. He was convicted of having helped Wm. Moore rob the Barnesboro post office, although Moore swore that Lewis was not a party to the robbery. Lewis was given 4 years and 10 months and was only recently discharged. Moore was pardoned by President McKinley shortly before his death.

Each day brings some new developments in the case, one of which is rather romantic in its nature. Benjamin Windgard, of Coburn, this county, like Jacob of old, had a dream Wednesday night to the effect that if he would go to the old Faust home on the mountain where the capture was made he would find hidden in the old barn gold, silver and jewels. Following the direction of this intuition Mr. Windgard drove many miles to the place and commenced a search of the old barn. After digging around for some time he came upon a large dirk, with a deer's foot as a handle and heavily plated with silver. The general impression is that there is money also hidden some place about the barn, and in course of time it will be found, as every day there are men engaged in hunting for it. Mr. Windgard has sent the dirk to Sheriff Taylor in this place.

J. H. Wardle, a postoffice inspector, was here and after carefully examining the stamps found in the possession of the burglars, he went to the jail and had a long conversation with the prisoners; but they revealed nothing. He obtained photographs of them for the use of the government in trying to identify them. Inspector Wardle is of the opinion that this is the most important capture of postoffice robbers that has ever taken place in Pennsylvania, and is enthusiastic over the quick and decisive work of Sheriff Taylor and his posse.

The wounded man now claims that he from Union county and was traveling over the mountains toward Bellefonte and fell in with the gang only a few hours before the capture was made. On the contrary he is believed to have been the leader of the gang.

WEDDING BELLS.

Pretty Ceremony United Wm. G. Weston and Miss Tessie Woodring at Port Matilda.

One of the prettiest events that has taken place in Centre County for some time was the marriage of Miss Tessie Woodring, daughter of H. C. Woodring, to William G. Weston which took place in the Presbyterian church at Port Matilda, Wednesday, June 24th 1903 at High noon.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion and over one hundred guests were in attendance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. S. S. Bergen, the pastor.

The bridal party entered the church to the music of the wedding march as rendered by Miss Bird Woodring, who had previously been escorted to her seat at the organ by Calvin Weston, the groom's brother. The ladies passed down one aisle and the gentlemen, the other, meeting at the altar, where the beautiful ring ceremony of the Presbyterian church soon united these loving young hearts in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The bride looked very beautiful, attired in white silk, with a long train and veil. She was attended by her aunt, Miss Mary Woodring, as bridesmaid. The flower girls were the brides sister, Nora Woodring and the groom's sister, Helen Weston. The groom was attended by Charles Woodring, the bride's brother as best man. In the wedding party also were Wilbur Woodring, Miss Edith Woodring, Victor Weston and Hannah Newman.

The ushers were H. B. Woodring and Thompson Henry. Dr. J. A. Thompson, of Stormstown, received the guests at the door, furnishing them with tickets for the reception which followed at the house.

The reception and the wedding dinner was held at the home of the brides father H. C. Woodring and was a most elaborate affair. Congratulations were tendered the bride after which a dinner was served in which all the delicacies of the season were to be had. It was served in the house and on the lawn.

The bride received many beautiful presents both useful and ornamental among which was $20 in gold. This testifies to the high esteem in which she is held.

The groom is a son of Graphies Weston of Port Matilda and is an industrious and worthy young man. After a wedding tour they expect to go to housekeeping at Pittsburg where the groom is profitably employed. Those who waited on the guests at dinner were Chester Pringle, H. B. Woodring, Thompson Henry, Daniel Funk, Roy Turner, Estella Harpster, Nannie Morrison, Dora Newman.

Guests were present from Petersburg, Huntingdon, Philipsburg, Tyrone and Bellefonte.

FAMOUS CLUB TO BE SOLD

Nittany Rod and Gun Club in the Hands of the Sheriff.

MILLIONS DIDN'T SAVE IT

S. H. Vandergriff to Foreclose on a Loan of $3,000. Long Overdue—Club Opened With a Flourish, but Quail Migrated and Poachers Caught Fish.

DISSENSIONS AMONG THE MEMBERS

The property of the famous Nittany Rod and Gun club at Hecla Park, in the Nittany valley, is up to be sold at sheriff's sale on Monday, July 6, on a writ issued at the instance of S. H. Vandergrift of Pittsburg for a loan of $3,000. This obligation is long overdue and cannot be paid, because the club is financially embarrassed, a condition, not because the members cannot raise the money, as many of them are millionaires, but because the club has about gone to pieces.

The Nittany club was organized in 1897 with over 50 members. Twenty thousand acres of land were leased for a game preserve and six miles of Little Fishing creek were dammed and stocked for a trout stream. From 8,000 to 10,000 quail were put on the preserve and upwards of 50,000 trout in the stream. But the quail migrated and died in the rigors of winters and the trout died and were caught by poachers, until during the past two years there has been neither hunting nor fishing on the preserve. A large clubhouse was erected and handsomely furnished and this made the resort a rendezvous for days at a time for members from all over the state. But the keeping up of the house was too expensive and finally a dissension grew in the ranks of the club and then it was allowed to go to pieces.

At one time the club had more than 100 members, among whom were R. V. Filbert, David Martin, J. M. Mack, Leonard Pearson, C. V. Vischer and and J. H. Weaver of Philadelphia; J. P. Mack, George A. Wilson, S. H. Vandergrift, J. H. Stewart, R. B. Mellon, George A. McLean, A. H. and William S. King, T. R. Hostetter, Herbert D. Hostetter, C. S. Guthrie, H. L. Graff, W. C. and H. C. Fownes and A. J. Grant of Pittsburg; J. O. H. Denny, Ligonier; Thomas Blythe, Madera; John P. Elkin and Richard V. Fox. Harrisburg; Charles W. Wilhelm, F. C. Smink and L. H. Faht, Reading; James B. Reilly, Atlantic City; Jere B. Rex, Huntingdon; Rembrandt Peale, New York, and Judge Cyrus Gordon of Clearfield. Among the Williamsporters were the late Henry McCormick, J. H. Cochran, J. G. Coryell. Carl Herdic, the Payne brothers, J. W. Sweely and C. E. Sprout. Lock Haven was represented with S. R. Peale and others, while from Bellefonte were the late ex-Gov. D. H. Hastings, Col. Wilbur F. Reeder, Col. J. L. Spangler, Col. W. F. Reynolds, Judge Love and 15 others. The last officers elected were: President, J. O. H. Denny; secretary, J. M. Dale; treasurer, Harry Keller, both of Bellefonte.

Children's Day in the Presbyterian Church.

The Children's Day services held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday were very interesting and fully appreciated by the large congregation in attendance. The music from "Crowns of Blossoms" was very sweet and the Sunday school rendered it with great success. Christy Smith's orchestra proved a delightful inspiration for the program.

Marshal Cook delivered the address of welcome, and then followed a number of interesting exercises appropriate to the occasion, in which the Primary department, so well drilled by Miss Overton, made their usual hit.

The Intermediate boys and girls, also, performed their part most creditably and added much to the interest of the service.

The front of the church, decorated with a dense mass of laurel, ferns, daisies and rambler roses, presented a beautiful and inspiring background for the little children.

Dr. Laurie's address on the observance of the Lord's Day was very timely and very much to the point.

—A little son of Mr. Lew Bologne of Howard fell off a wagon on Tuesday, his hand was run over and smashed but no bones were broken.

THE FIRST COUNT.

Three Churches Receive Votes in Organ Contest—W. Harrison Walker and W. N. Haines Are the Judges.

The first count in our "Organ Contest" took place at noon on Wednesday, July 1st, at the REPUBLICAN office. W. Harrison Walker, Mayor of Bellefonte, and Wm. N. Haines, draughtsman for the Standard Scale and Supply company, are the judges. Both are reliable and trustworthy and their names are a sufficient guarantee of the fair and honest manner in which the contest will be conducted. The contest is just starting, dear reader, and if you know of a church in need of a first-class organ, such as we are giving away, now is your chance. A little effort on your part may land the organ for the church you are interested in. Read the conditions and get to work.

Pleasant View Union Chapel	250
Lutheran Church, Pleasant Gap	106
Coleville Chapel	2

IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The Irish Agricultural Organization Society.

Although the grange is not an organization that has found a footing on foreign soil, nevertheless its principles are not unlike those of the Irish Agricultural Organization society of Ireland, as described by the Hon. Horace Plunkett in a recent number of the Review of Reviews. While Mr. Plunkett's ideas of the grange movement in this country are not altogether correct, his account of the similar movement in Ireland is interesting. He says:

"We have a grange movement which is headed by a central society known as the Irish Agricultural Organization society, composed of men of all creeds, classes and politics and existing for the sole purpose of teaching the farmers to organize their industry in all its branches upon these business principles which we are discussing. The organization society is heading a great movement which remains absolutely nonpolitical and is producing the best possible business results. The movement has only been in existence for a dozen years, and yet at the moment the associations which are organized under it embrace roughly some 75,000 farmers, who are shareholding members of over 700 associations. As the shareholders are, generally speaking, heads of families, it is safe to say that over 300,000 persons, or about one-sixth of the entire farming community, have thus become interested in the movement, and it is going ahead at an unprecedented and rapidly accelerating rate of progress. They build and equip creameries; everything that the farmer wants in his industry they purchase in a large, wholesale way and pay particular attention to quality as well as to price. Some of the associations, called agricultural banks, aim at getting cheap credit for farmers through mutual security, thus enabling them to add to the working capital available for sound, practical development of their industry."

When the day shall come, if it ever does, that the beneficent principles and purposes of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry shall find their way across the sea in the organization above described their principles would find easy root and congenial soil. Does it not open up a vision of what our noble fraternal Order may yet be when its influence shall be worldwide?

Some Grange "Don'ts."

Don't be tardy at grange.

Don't depend upon others to keep your grange going.

Don't expect the grange to make you a fortune nor save your soul, but be eternally grateful if it but blocks your path to perdition or penury.

Don't get disheartened because your ideals are not attained, but recollect that you have not yet passed over where improvement is out of order.

Don't draw yourselves within your shell like a tortoise and then wonder why every farmer in the land does not become a member of the only farmers' organization national in extent and character.

Don't allow your neighbor to justify his course in not supporting this movement for the betterment and advancement of his occupation because he has never been invited to do so.—National Stockman.

A Ten Acre United States Map.

One of the novel sights at the St. Louis exposition next year will be the great ten acre map of the United States. It will also be very instructive.

Colonel J. H. Brigham, past master of the national grange, as chairman of the government board has devised the exhibit and has secured the use of a sunny slope of ten acres of ground near the government building, which will be laid off like a map of the United States. Every state and territory will be clearly defined, and the boundary line will be a pathway, so the visitor can walk around each state. The products of each state will be growing upon its miniature representative. Among the numerous "sights and scenes" of the great exposition this will be one of the most original and attractive.

What the Grange Does.

The grange opens the door of opportunity to young and old in the country. It develops talents and powers; it trains ability; it fits its members for greater usefulness. It is not to be judged by what it cannot do, but by what it is doing and can do. It has room for growth and usefulness. Better still, it is growing in the strength that is measured by numbers and increasing in usefulness.—Grange Bulletin.

State Master E. B. Norris and State Senator H. S. Ambler, who compose the legislative committee of the New York state grange, have issued an earnest appeal to the Patrons of the state for active work in opposition to the 1,000 ton barge canal bill.

The grange is a character builder, a home maker, an educator and a social benefactor. It is very closely connected with the home, the church and the school, the four forming an inestimable influence for good in any community.

Mr. E. A. Callahan, who died recently in Albany, was a grange speaker and entertainer of much ability. His services were always in demand at state grange meetings and on other occasions.

RADIUM TEST IN CHICAGO.

Photographs Taken by Substance That Emits Light and Heat.

A minute quantity of the rare metal known as "radium" from the fact that it has been discovered to radiate heat and light spontaneously has reached Chicago. Its property of diffusing light has been tested by W. C. Fuchs, X ray expert, and a successful photograph has been made by the aid of the light from the radium alone, says the Chicago News.

One grain of the precious substance, which retails at about $1,000,000 a pound, was received recently by Mr. Fuchs from Professor Max Slaby of the University of Berlin. The sum of $150 was paid for the contents of the tiny hermetically sealed glass receptacle, this being less than the price asked for absolutely pure radium, as a small quantity of bromide was mixed with it. Enough pure radium to equal the weight of a one carat white diamond would be worth about $3,200, while the diamond could be bought for $150.

The radio activity of radium varies according to its approximate purity, ranging from forty times to 7,000 times the radio activity of uranium. That secured by Mr. Fuchs has the minimum radio activity. When examined in a dark room the glass receptacle containing the substance appears to glow with a soft whitish light.

In experimenting with the light shed by the radium a stone removed by the aid of the X ray from the kidney of a patient was placed on a photographic plate which had first been inclosed in a black envelope, excluding all light from the plate. The glass receptacle containing the radium was then placed over the plate at a height of about an inch and a half and allowed to remain in that position for twenty-four hours. The plate was then developed in the usual way, and a good photograph was found to have been secured. Had the radium been absolutely pure the photograph could probably have been taken in a few minutes.

The substance maintains a temperature of 1½ degrees C. above the surrounding atmosphere, which means a continual radiation of heat. If kept in one's pocket it is said that it would cause an X ray burn on the skin within a period of nine days.

RICH MAN'S NEW CHARITY.

Henry Phipps Arranges For Examination of School Children's Eyes.

Henry Phipps, former partner of Andrew Carnegie, donor of $1,000,000 for the cure of consumptives in Philadelphia and of magnificent conservatories to the Pittsburg and Allegheny parks and the founder of a free manual training school and playground in Allegheny, Pa., signalized a public exhibition of the pupils' work the other day by the announcement that all children in the school would have their eyes examined free of charge and that those needing special glasses would be provided with them, says a Pittsburg special to the Philadelphia Press.

All of the 700 pupils will undergo examination.

Novelty in Aerial Excursions.

A project is on foot in Geneva for the establishment of aerial excursions to view the summit of Mont Blanc. A captive balloon, controlled and lowered by hydraulic power, is to be the means of conveyance, fares £1 per head, including £1,000 ($5,000) insurance policy against accident.

A South African Exposition.

So numerous have been the demands for space at the Cape Town exhibition that a site fifteen times as large as that originally fixed upon has had to be selected. It has also been resolved to postpone the exhibition for twelve months—viz, to November, 1904.

A Welcome to Shamrock III.

Right hearty we welcome a Shamrock once more,
Rejoicing that safely she came to our shore.

Extending our hand, with best wishes we greet
Each true hearted sailor on Tom Lipton's fleet.

Like ev'ry true sportsman, Sir Thomas has pluck;
Like ev'ry good fellow, he smiles at ill luck.

Indeed he's a brick, and love him we do,
In all sorts of weather his heart's good and true.

And, though his new boat is his finest and best,
Alas, she is doomed to defeat, like the rest!

No gamier man ever sailed for the cup;
No matter how beaten, he still keeps it up.

Come on, then, Sir Thomas, and meet our new boat;
Contest with our wonder, the fastest afloat.

Exciting and thrilling the races will be,
Ending, as always, in our victory.

JUNE WEDDING BELLS.

Two Clinton County young ladies who are well known here were married Wednesday. The Lock Haven Democrat of Thursday June 25 gives the following account of the two weddings:

One of the prettiest and most elaborate weddings of the month was solemnized in St. Luke's Reformed church Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, the bride being Miss Margaret M. Steiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Steiner, and the groom, Samuel F. Anderson, of Ridgway.

The decorations about the altar and chancel railing, consisting of palms, daisies and other flowers, lent an additional charm to the beautiful auditorium of the church. The maid of honor was Miss Mabel Steiner, sister of the bride, while the bridesmaids were the Misses Clara Wilson, Benezette; Margaret Ames and Emma Briggs, Ridgway; and Miss Ida Maurer, of this city. The groomsman was Earl Anderson, of Hazen, Pa., brother of the groom, and the ushers were J. G. Jones, Pittsburg; A. B. Owen and G. F. Greiner, of Ridgway, and Frank G. Knights, of this city. The bride looked exceedingly pretty in a gown of white mousseline de soie, trimmed in fine lace. She wore a fine veil and carried bride roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were all attired in white and carried white carnations. The music on the new pipe organ added brilliancy and charm to the impressive ceremony.

After the ceremony the bridal party was conveyed to the home of the bride's parents, No. 28 South Grove street, where a delightful reception was tendered the happy young couple. The excellent refreshments were served by Caterer Achenbach. The 12.38 train east carried Mr. and Mrs. Anderson eastwardly and before taking up their residence in Ridgway they will visit Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and the great lakes.

The bride is a most popular and accomplished young lady; who has a legion of warm friends as was made manifest by the large array of beautiful presents she received. She is a graduate of the Central State Normal class of '96, and for a number of years has been a successful school teacher. The groom is a young man of sterling qualities and holds a responsible position in the Elk county bank of Ridgway. The best wishes of their many friends accompany them on their matrimonial journey through life.

BOWER—HUNTER.

The wedding Wednesday evening of Ralph I. Bower, of Williamsport, to Effie M. Hunter, of Mill Hall, was a very brilliant affair and was performed in the Presbyterian church in that place, in the presence of as many people as the church would comfortably hold. Long before the hour set for the ceremony, people began to flock to the church and those who chose to wait until the last moment had some difficulty in getting seats. The church was decorated with ferns, palms and daisies and potted hydrangeas in bloom and presented a handsome appearance. John Crowley, of this city, was best man and Lena Kepler, of Baltimore, was maid of honor. Harry Love, of this city and Harry Lucas, of Punxsutawney, were groomsmen and Etta Hevner, of Ms. Jewett and Ruth Hunter, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Grace Hunter was ring bearer, Clarence Stoner and Lester Crispen ushers. Promptly at the hour appointed for the ceremony, 8:30, to the melodious strains of Mendelssohns wedding march played by Mrs. D. N. Miller, the bridal party entered the church and marched to the altar where they were united in holy matrimony by Rev. D. N. Miller, assisted by Rev. L. F. Brown. The beautiful ring ceremony was used on this occasion. The bride wore a handsome gown of white chiffon and carried bride roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of white French lawn, one carrying a bouquet of white, the other pink carnations. The ring bearer wore white Persian lawn. After the ceremony to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin the party returned to the home of the bride where a reception was held, after which elaborate refreshments were served to about 200 guests. The presents were numerous, costly, useful and ornamental. It would require too much space to enumerate them with the names of donors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bower left Thursday for Philadelphia, Baltimore, and other eastern cities. They will shortly after their return home go to housekeeping in Williamsport, where Mr. Bower is manager of the department store of George Loder. The young couple have the hearty good wishes of all their friends for their future prosperity.

U. S. Bureau of Forestry News.

There is no more important and active branch of work in the Department of Agriculture at Washington than that of the bureau of forestry. A few notes of what is going on will interest our readers.

Members of the family of the late Austin Corbin of New York, have decided to practice forestry on the Blue Mountains forest park, near Newport, in Sullivan county, N. H., and have asked that a working plan for the management of the timber lands be prepared by the Bureau of Forestry.

The Pike's Peak forest reserve of Colorado will receive this summer the special attention of the Bureau of Forestry. A party of seven men, under Wesley J. Gardner, a graduate of the Yale forest school; will make a study of that part of the reserve lying south of the cogwheel railroad up Pike's Peak in order to determine whether the great damage done the land by fire may be overcome and what may be done to improve the drainage conditions.

In order to determine whether the sand dunes on government land in central Minnesota are of sufficient extent to render the land unfit for agriculture and adapted for a forest reserve, the Bureau of Forestry, will send out a party this summer under H. B. Kempton to study the matter. Mr. Kempton will also try to devise methods by which the farmer in the sand dune regions will be able to protect his land. A similar study will be made under Mr. Kempton in Michigan along the shores of Lake Michigan.

The forestry work in Otsego county, N. Y. undertaken last year at the request of Mrs. Potter, the wife of Bishop Potter, has been continued by George E. Clement, a graduate of the Yale forest school, who began the work last year. This year the work will take the form of finding a good market for the timber removed in making thinnings for the improvement of the forest. Where the timber can be sold at a profit thinnings will be made with the idea of furnishing the woodlot owners of the county with an example of a practical forestry operation.

Married Wednesday Evening.

Mr. Harry Stevenson and Miss Lizzie Allen were united in marriage on Wednesday evening at 9 o'clock at the Methodist parsonage on Linn street by Rev. Jno. A. Wood Jr. The young couple are both well known in Bellefonte, and have a large circle of friends who rejoice with them in this happy event. The paper wishes them happiness and success throughout their lives.

WARNING.

If you have kidney or bladder trouble and do not use Foley's Kidney Cure, you will have only yourself to blame for results, as it positively cures all forms of kidney and bladder diseases. —C. M. Parrish.

THE CHARITY BALL.

"And now abideth with you faith, hope and charity, but the greatest of these is charity." Inspired by these words of Holy Writ the young ladies of our town conceived the idea of doing a charitable act and at the same time gaining pleasure for themselves together with that pleasure which comes from helping their fellow-creatures. With this end in view they held Thursday evening their annual Charity Ball. Each year the proceeds from this ball go to some worthy cause, and this year the Bellefonte Hospital will be the beneficiary.

The ball was held in the Armory Thursday evening, that handsome hall being beautifully decorated for this occasion. Mrs. M. D. Burnett and Miss Mary Blanchard were the originators of the affair and they interested the members of the Hospital Ladies Auxilliary Board in the matter.

The result was a highly successful social event. The splendid Stopper & Fiske orchestra from Williamsport furnished inspiring music. There was a concert from 8:30 until 9 o'clock which was followed by dancing which was kept up until 2 o'clock in the morning. There were over 250 guests present and some of the costumes worn by the ladies were unusually beautiful.

On entering the ball room you were received by the patronesses who were the following named ladies: Mrs. Austin O. Furst, Mrs. Isaac Mitchell, Mrs. Thomas A. Shoemaker, Mrs. W. Harrison Walker, Mrs. Hugh S. Taylor, Mrs. Aaron Katz, Miss Alice Wilson, Mrs. Edward H. Richards, Mrs. M. Fauble and Mrs. Frank McCoy.

The decorations were the work of Misses Elizabeth and Mary Blanchard assisted by Edmund Blanchard and a committee of young ladies. They were unique and novel. Instead of the usual flags and bunting seen on such occasions, the rooms were transformed into a veritable woodland bower. The decorations being of green branches of maple, oak and evergreen. Beautiful palms and potted plants were placed about the room. The effect produced was very pretty and entrancing.

The refreshments were served on the stage and consisted of ice cream, cake, coffee etc. Mrs. Joseph [illegible] was chairman of the refreshment committee. She was assisted by Mrs. Amos [illegible] and the following young ladies: Misses Emma Montgomery, Jennie [illegible], Nellie Valentine, Bertha Laurie, [illegible] Heinle, Mary Crider, Louise Garman and Edna Meyer. The refreshments were all donated by our citizens and the committee wishes through the columns of the DAILY NEWS to thank those who were so generous in their contributions.

There were many guests in attendance from a distance. Among the places represented were New York, Philadelphia Altoona, Baltimore, Tyrone, Lock Haven Williamsport and State College.

The hospital will realize a nice amount, the receipts being very large.

Funeral of Mrs. Katherine Swiler.

A great many friends gathered at the home of the late Mrs. Katharine Swiler on Friday afternoon to pay their last tribute of love and respect to her who would be soon laid in the tomb. The services were impressive and sad for she had hosts of friends who will miss her. Rev. John Wood Jr., spoke words of tenderness and comfort to those whose hearts were almost broken. He was assisted in the services by Rev. Thomas Perks of the United Brethren church and Rev. W. H. Brown of the Evangelical church. The casket bearers were Messrs. Adam Wagner, John Martin, David Bartley, E. G. Osmer, Geo. Miller and Andrew Dunkle. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

—Harvey Miller, was so unfortunate as to get hit by a falling pick, on the head which cut him pretty badly.

Strong Features.

The biographies of prominent men in Everybody's have attracted much attention. This month, "James Buchanan Duke, The Caesar of Tobacco." is presented. Alfred Henry Lewis writes the story. It is the piece de resistance of the number. Another regular monthly feature is the distinguished stage article, written this month by Marian West, and relating several dilemmas in which prominent actors and actresses found themselves, and how their quick wits came to the rescue.

Interesting to Asthma Sufferers.

Daniel Bante of Otterville, Iowa, writes, "I have had asthma for three or four years and have tried about all the cough and asthma cures in the market and have received treatment from physicians in New York and other cities, but got very little benefit until I tried Foley's Honey and Tar which gave me immediate relief and I will never be without it in my house. I sincerely recommend it to all.—C. M. Parrish.

Be "Keerful" When You Catch Frogs.

The last legislature, it seems, was solicitious about the welfare of the bullfrogs and spent good time making law for their protection. As the law is of very recent date and our boy friends among The News readers, may unwillingly subject themselves to a fine, we give the act in its entirety.

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be lawful to catch, take or kill any bullfrogs, only from the first day of July to the first day of November.

Section 2 Any person or persons offending against the provisions of this act shall be liable to a fine of twenty-five dollars for each and every offense, which shall be payable to the school district in which such offense is committed, and may be sued for and recovered before any alderman or justice of the peace of the proper county.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The Women's Declaration of Independence

By ELIZA ARCHARD CONNER

Copyright, 1902, by Eliza Archard Conner

"MARSTON, who's that pretty girl over there at the window opposite? Good style, she is."

"That's Esther Zane."

"No! Can't be but one Esther Zane, and she's the leader of those brassy athletic girls in Co Ed university. I never saw the creature; don't want to see her. Women that ape men are disgusting. If we university men had our way we'd put 'em every one out. They weaken and belittle our tone."

"My son, when you are older you will know more. When you are as old as I am you will know it is better to leave women to do as they like, for they will do it anyhow."

"Thanks, John Marston. You are just four years older than I am. But you're married, and I suppose that makes a difference; gets a fellow so broken in that at twenty-five he's twenty years older than he was two years before."

"Just so. Philip Altman, twenty-one, if he had been two years married would be wiser in woman lore than Philip Altman, bachelor, will be at a hundred. Did you hear of the women's Fourth of July celebration here at Sunlight this summer? Esther Zane planned it all and carried it through."

"That girl with the wavy black hair, the bright, merry, refined face, so pretty a fellow would like to— I don't believe it."

"But it's so, Phil. Some of the women wanted us men to arrange an old fashioned Fourth of July picnic. We were too lazy. The young fellows were nearly all away camping in the woods; the old ones were off on fishing trips. Hardly a he creature was left besides myself except Granddad Grote, eighty years old and a cripple; the milkman, the butcher boy and the Rev. Spurgeon Spiles, summering here for his ministerial bad throat. Then there were a few old farmers. The men, such as they were, would do nothing. Esther Zane, just twenty and just out of her sophomore year at Co Ed—she is the same, I tell you, Phil—said it was a shame to let the school children pass the nation's birthday without any commemoration at all. She roused the women to help her and declared that not a man should have anything to do with the affair."

"I read of it, John, and I was disgusted. It's a woman's place to look sweet and lovely and wear pretty clothes and charm us men in private life. To stride upon a platform and strain her squeaky soprano voice trying to speak in public! Detestable, I say! I've no use for the new woman anyhow."

"Phil—good Lord, how much you don't know! The women outdid with their celebration anything in that line ever undertaken hereabout. 'We won't do anything by halves,' said Esther Zane. So the squeaky soprano committee of arrangements sent to Boston and got the women's orchestra there—trumpet, drum, fiddle and brass horns. Jolly good band it is, Phil!"

"A woman distorting her face tooting on a brass horn makes me sick."

"The women's brass band opened the ball with 'The Star Spangled Banner.' It floated through the trees and echoed among the hills outdoors like the roll call of liberty. Then Esther Zane, dressed in white, with a silk American flag draped across her breast, steps up and reads the Declaration of Independence."

"That pretty creature in pink over there at the window? I say, I don't believe it."

"But I say she did—read it with a force and feeling that wakened thrills of boyish patriotism even in my hardened old soul. You never heard the Declaration read like that, Phil."

"No, I never did, and I don't want to. But I heard"—

"Oh, I know. Yes, she did that too. When she came to the words, 'We hold these truths to be self evident,' she paused till all the audience looked up at her to see what was coming. Then she raised her voice and continued slowly and impressively, 'We hold these truths to be self evident—that all men, including women, are created equal; that they are endowed by the Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, LIBERTY and the pursuit of happiness.'"

"By Jove!"

"She spoke that world 'liberty' in a way to give you thrills down your spine. She had the Co Ed girls' glee quartet up to help her. They all wore little silk American flags pinned to their white dresses just as she did, and after she finished the Declaration they sang a new patriotic song one of the club herself had written to the grand old air of 'Rally Round the Flag, Boys,' words that both north and south could unite in singing whole hearted. Old soldiers of the civil war wiped their eyes, women kissed the little flags they wore. The girl had got the school children together—she let the boys in on that—and dressed them in a United States flag tableau. In the upper left hand corner of a rectangle of benches rising one above another the girls sat. They wore blue dresses and carried small white parasols, star shaped. The boys wore red and white muslin caps and capes and sat in red and white stripes below and to the left of the girls. Girls waved the star parasols, boys waved their red and white caps. Wasn't it a fine idea, Phil? Oh, you've nothing to say.

"Next a sweet old saint of a woman with white hair told the gaping children what women, too, had done for their country. She told them how in 1777 Esther Zane the first, a long ago relative of the young lady who had read the Declaration, volunteered to go out from the stockade at Fort Henry in Ohio when the Indians were all around them firing bullets into the fort and bring from the cabin of Ebenezer Zane a keg of powder, for the men in the stockade were out of ammunition."

"Well!"

"Well, the white haired old saint told us next of Mother Bickerdyke, the soldiers' angel in the civil war. She saved thousands of lives, Union and Confederate alike. Many a night following a fight, even in the storm and bitterest weather, an officer would perhaps see a twinkling light upon the battle field after the hospital corps had abandoned it, and the light would be from a lantern carried by Mother Bickerdyke, out with an orderly examining the bodies if perhaps there might not yet be a spark of life remaining in some."

"Well!"

"Well, after that the American flag children sang 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee.' Then while the women's orchestra played 'Yankee Doodle' we assembled for our basket picnic dinner. Phil, that was the most fetching Fourth of July celebration I ever attended, pestered with not one of your long winded orators that are such a nuisance in the meetings of us men."

* * * * * * *

"Linda Miles, who is that coming this way with John Marston? Very good looking for a man!"

"That, Esther, is Philip Altman, Mr. Marston's cousin. He is here for the vacation."

"Linda, you don't mean it! This person looks really manly. Philip Altman, of all creatures contemptible! He heads the fellows that tried to keep us girls off the college campus, and he's written the meanest things about us of anybody in the college paper. Linda, sometimes I'm afraid I'm getting to hate men, and I'm sorry for it, because the emotion of hatred is not a good one to indulge—reacts psychologically on the health. I hope that I shall never meet that Altman."

But of course the two did meet later. When they were introduced Esther Zane stiffened her lips visibly; Philip Altman assumed his indifferent drawl; John Marston smiled.

The two foes met often. She treated him with the barest civility at first, which Altman was not used to from girls, and it hurt his vanity. Presently, however, Esther remembered that we should be kind to our enemies so as to heap coals of fire upon their heads. She suddenly turned about and became sweet as an angel—a far off angel, that is, and unattainable. Philip Altman noticed that of all her frippery loving sex Esther Zane was one of the fripperiest. She wore yellow muslins that enveloped her like a halo, now again gray that veiled her in a mist. He heard the swish of a silk petticoat as she passed him in street gown. She even wore chains and bangles. What a pity a girl like this had distorted her true womanly nature by adopting the strong minded role!

History moves swiftly with hearts in hot weather. Once at twilight through the open window Philip heard Esther singing a love song—low, sweet and tender. He sat still and listened and thought the rings of smoke he lazily blew from his lips were just the color of Esther Zane's prettiest gray street gown. Then he said to himself:

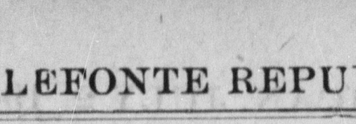
"I wonder if there is a Juliet as well as a Portia in Esther Zane?"

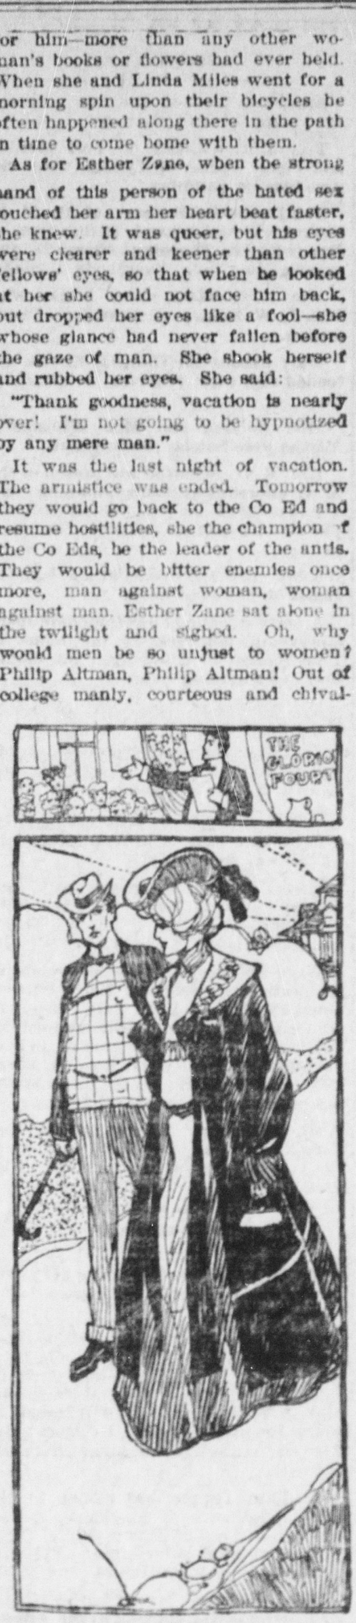
After that night he discovered that a flower she had touched, a book she had read, somehow had a peculiar interest for him—more than any other woman's books or flowers had ever held. When she and Linda Miles went for a morning spin upon their bicycles he often happened along there in the path in time to come home with them.

As for Esther Zane, when the strong hand of this person of the hated sex touched her arm her heart beat faster, she knew. It was queer, but his eyes were clearer and keener than other fellows' eyes, so that when he looked at her she could not face him back, but dropped her eyes like a fool—she whose glance had never fallen before the gaze of man. She shook herself and rubbed her eyes. She said:

"Thank goodness, vacation is nearly over! I'm not going to be hypnotized by any mere man."

It was the last night of vacation. The armistice was ended. Tomorrow they would go back to the Co Ed and resume hostilities, she the champion of the Co Eds, he the leader of the antis. They would be bitter enemies once more, man against woman, woman against man. Esther Zane sat alone in the twilight and sighed. Oh, why would men be so unjust to women? Philip Altman, Philip Altman! Out of college manly, courteous and chivalrous as a knight of the Round Table; in college a perfect gorilla! Her heart was sore. Philip came in.





"AGAIN, I CANNOT TELL YOU HOW SORRY I AM."

"I have come to bid you goodby, Miss Esther. I suppose back at the university we'll never meet again, there is so much antagonism between the sexes. Must there always be antagonism, Miss Zane? Well, it's a pity!"

"I'm surprised to hear you say that, you who wrote those bitter editorials against us girls just because we, too, wanted a university education. I could not have believed it of you if I had not known. Out of college you seem so different, so courteous and chivalrous, so—so—everything a girl most admires in a man."

A flush crept over Altman's face; his voice dropped low and tense.

"Miss Zane, I cannot tell you how sorry I am. I did not know, I did not think. I never once thought that the stronger and more intellectual a man himself is the better he can afford to let women have their chance too. If college men knew girl students better they would be to them more like gentlemen, less like red Indians. I suppose now I can never destroy in your mind the prejudice I put there by my conduct toward you college girls. Again, I can't tell how sorry I am, and that's all I can say."

Esther smiled, but her lips quivered with something that was not a smile as she answered:

"Didn't I tell you that outside of the university you are all that a girl most likes and admires?"

"Esther, Esther, don't say that if you don't mean it! Don't you see I am dead in earnest? I love you, Co Ed Esther, as I never thought to love one of the sex we boys said we despised, when we knew better all the time and we didn't despise them at all, but were only jealous. I know I shall never care so much for any woman again. Esther, you tell me a girl can like and admire me. There is only one girl I care a straw to have like or admire me, and that girl is you, and you know it. After all that has been, can you forgive? Esther, tell me the truth. Can you 'like and admire' me?"

"Till death; at least," she corrected. "I think I can."

At that he laughed even while his arm drew her to him and he kissed her.

A year afterward there was another Independence day celebration at Sunlight. Men and women both participated in it, and it was even better than the women's celebration had been because there were more men to help eat the picnic dinner and make things lively. Philip Altman, who had just been graduated from Co Ed university after a respectable record in letters and a brilliant one in heavy weight athletics, read the Declaration. In a musical, impressive bass voice he pronounced these words:

"We hold these truths to be self evident—here his eyes roved calmly over his audience till they rested upon a beautiful young lady, who smiled, blushed faintly and looked down; then the voice continued—"that all men, including women, are created equal; that they are endowed by the Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, LIBERTY and the pursuit of happiness."

Not Very Filling.

Mrs. Andrews was the most conscientious visitor of the district, but for various reasons she was not popular among the poor people whom she longed to help.

"I don't want to see that peaked looking woman in my room again, nor I won't!" said the grandmother of the nine ragged Palmers.

"I read my Bible wid the best o' folks," went on the old lady, "but there's times for some things an' times for others, an' that Andrews woman is without the sense to know the one from the other. What was the motto she brought us yesterday, all in red and gold letters, and we with empty stomachs? — 'Be filled with faith!'"—Youth's Companion.

Bliss.

She put the book down, with a sigh.

"What is it, darling?" he asked.

"Ah, dearest, I'm so happy," she replied.

"But you had such a sad look in your eyes just now."

"I know. I've been reading about the unhappiness that the wives of men of genius have always had to bear. Oh, Alfred, dear, I'm so glad you're just an ordinary plug of a fellow!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

TEN YEARS IN BED.

R. A. Gray, J. P. Oakville, Ind., writes, "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys. It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Parrish's drug store.

—During the summer kidney irregularities are often caused by excessive drinking or being overheated. Attend to the kidneys at once by using Foley's Kidney Cure. C. M. Parrish.

A MAN CAN'T swim in shackles. It isn't a question of his winning a race, but a question of being able only to keep afloat. The man who is suffering from malnutrition is like the fettered swimmer. His stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition are diseased. It is not a question with him of winning in the race for business but of simply keeping up under any circumstances.

Whenever disease affects the stomach it is affecting also the blood and the health of every organ of the body. For blood is only food converted into nutrition and nutrition is the life of the body and every organ of it.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It purifies the blood and enables the perfect nutrition of the body which means perfect health.

"For six long years I suffered with indigestion and my liver and kidneys, which baffled the best doctors in our country," writes E. L. Ransell, Esq., of Woolsey, Prince William Co., Va. "I suffered with my stomach and back for a long time, and after taking a 'cart-load' of medicine from three doctors I grew so bad I could hardly do a day's work. Would have death-like pains in the side, and blind spells. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Before I had taken half of the second bottle I began to feel relieved. I got six more bottles and used them, and am happy to say I owe my life to Dr. Pierce."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

BORAX IN THE HOME

It is invaluable in the Kitchen—the Laundry—the Bath Room—the Nursery—for Cleansing the Hair—for Exterminating Ants and Cockroaches—for a Mouth Wash—and for a hundred other purposes.

The main question is to be sure it is PURE. To test Borax for soda (a common adulterant) add a few drops of strong vinegar—if the powder foams or effervesces it is not pure. We offer you PURE BORAX in packages, with a book on its various uses.

Call and ask for the book at

EDITORIAL.

A SOUTHERN newspaper solemnly avers that the projection on Mars is a Standard Oil Company oil-derrick.

THE recently elected sheriff for Breathitt county, Kentucky, was born and raised on Troublesome Creek.

IT is useless to look for centenarians in Kentucky. Old age is an imputation against the marksmanship of that state.

THE man who receives the Democratic nomination cannot hope to have it handed to him on either a gold or a silver salver.

KING EDWARD now wears the creases in his trousers on the seams instead of fore and aft. "Chappies" will please take notice.

THE European powers have advised the Sultan that he may fight Bulgaria as much as he pleases provided he does not hurt her.

WHEN Adalina Patti reaches these shores she and Senator Quay can exchange some interesting reminiscences on last appearance experiences.

OUR thanks are due to our Philipsburg and Gillintown correspondents for kind words of commendation. We appreciate them we assure you.

FOR 47 years Mrs. Nancy Rose has been keeping the light house at Stony Point, N. Y. Evidently she is not one of the women who prefers boarding to light housekeeping.

A CHICAGO man who advertised on the same day for a cook and a music teacher received applications from 389 teachers and from but nine cooks. Yet man cannot live on songs alone.

THE post-office scandal will not down. President Roosevelt has assured the public that the affair will be probed to the bottom and the Postmaster General cannot stem the tide of the investigation.

SEND in your votes in the "Organ Contest" as they expire after they are six weeks old. The Lutheran church at the Gap, the Pleasant View Union chapel and the Coleville chapel received votes this week.

THE erstwhile happy bachelor governor of Kansas had, by his own count, 2,000 offers of marriage. Since he has accepted only one, there are 1,999 rejected women. "Hell knows no fury like a woman scorned" and the last state of that man will be worse than the first.

CORRESPONDENCE

HANNAH.

Black Oak United Brethren Church held a festival near Flat Rock on the Henry Melcher farm now occupied by E. E. Burns. The date was June 27. They had very nice time.

The Methodists of Hannah held their Children's Day services on Sunday the 28th. There was a big congregation of people.

Ira Nearhoff has purchased a small farm from a loan association. It was formerly the Nancy Fink property. He will move his goods in a few days to his new home. We welcome a good citizen.

Thomas Beckwith, of near Hannah, is going about with a big smile on his face since a big boy came to his home Sunday the 21st of the month.

Rosey Hoover, of Fillmore, visited her uncle, Samuel Hoover of this place over Sunday.

Orlanda Walk and his beagle hound have caught seven ground hogs since they became fit to eat.

Lottie Dixon, of Mt. Pleasant church, who has been sick, is getting better.

Benjamin McCracken and E. B. Rigle, both of Altoona, visited their father-in-law John Nearhoof near Mt. Pleasant church.

Squire Vinton Beckwith went over to Bellefonte Saturday on some important business.

Mrs. Amelia Gingher is visiting in Milesburg.

Mr. Allen is visiting his son Wm. Allen.

GILLINTOWN.

Mr. Rolander Borger and Mrs. Ida Fife were married on Tuesday forenoon of last week. The bride was attired in a pretty blue dress.

Wake up Pine Glenn, and let us hear some of the latest from there, all we know of you is that you sow countless fields of millet.

Three fine sermons were delivered in the Methodist church on Sunday last.

All you hear around this famous city is where are you going on the 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Weaver took a trip to Kylertown on Sunday last.

It is said that Gillentown will have a Hall erected in the future—Better ask the Squire about it as something very mysterious is going on in his large barn floor

Preaching service will be held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning at eleven a. m.

We think the Republican is doing a very liberal thing in giving away a chapel organ, but then of course Republicans are able to do anything.

SMULLTON ITEMS

—The ten month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bathurst died at their home in Pittsburg and the remains were brought to Bellefonte Thursday and taken to the home of Mrs. Bathurst's father, Wm. Cox of Coleville. The funeral services were held in the afternoon Interment in the Union cemetery.

THE most significant feature of the Servian revolution, from a political standpoint, is that where heretofore Great Britain, Germany and Russia have stood practically sponsors for the Servian government, hereafter the affairs of the little kingdom will fall to the supervision of Germany, Austria-Hungary and Russia, leaving Great Britain out of the equation.

PEACEFULLY PASSED BEYOND.

Philip J. Welty Dies at the Bellefonte Hospital.

Shortly before day light Thursday the peaceful angel of death called hence into the realms of glory the spirit life of the venerable Philip J. Welty, one of Centre county's highly respected citizens. Mr. Welty had always enjoyed the best of health until 10 days ago when he became ill and his physicians thinking an operation would relieve him, he was taken to the hospital, but was to weak to be operated on. He gradually grew weaker until at last he fell asleep never more to awaken. The cause of his death being peritonitis.

When a boy he helped his father on the farm and from that time up until his death he followed up the honest occupation as a tiller of the soil. For over fifty years he has been a consistant christian gentleman, and a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Welty was born in Tioga county August 5, 1824 making his age 78 years 10 months and 20 days. In March 1848 he was united in marriage to Miss Fulcrod and from that union ten children were born, nine of whom are living, and with their mother mourn their father's death, the children's names are as follows: Mrs. Fred Seitz and Mrs. Henry Seitz of Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Sam'l Barlett, Mrs. Curtis Garbrick, Mrs. Frank Houser, of Coleville; Mr. George Welty of Renovo; Mrs William Wasson of Axe Mann; Mrs. Lawrie Biddle of Clintondale; and Mr. Reuben F. Welty of Roland.

The funeral occurred on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his son-in-law Mr. Sam'l Barlett at Coleville. The services were conducted by Rev. Salter, of Pleasant Gap. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Hammond Sechler, C. C. Shuey, James Rine, John Reed, James Barnhart and William Poorman. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

DEATH OF MRS. MARY CAMPBELL.

One of Milesburg's Oldest Citizens Passes Away on Friday.

Death entered the Campbell homestead at Milesburg on Friday morning at 9:45 and carried away the life of their dearly beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Campbell. She had been ailing for a number of years, but through all her suffering she was patient, for she knew God was acting for the best, and when the end came she expressed her joy and happiness in going to her home of rest. She was a true Christian woman, and when she was but a girl twelve years of age she united with the Methodist church and since then she has lived in the faith of her God and Father.

Mrs. Campbell was born in Hartleton-Union county, 79 years ago and was the wife of the late William Campbell.

She leaves to mourn her death the following children: William H. Campbell and George W. Campbell, of Williamsport; Mrs. L. D. Throp, of Yarnell; Mrs. J. W. Zimmerman, of New York city, and Mrs. Linn Adams, of Milesburg.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence. Rev. R. H. Wharton, pastor of the Methodist church of Milesburg, conducted the services. Interment in the Union cemetery at Bellefonte.

Mrs Nancy Thompson Dead.

On Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock the death angel entered the home of Mr. Christ Holter, three and one-half miles north of Howard, and took hence the spirit of Mrs. Nancy Thompson.

She was a woman who was loved by all who knew her, and was the oldest of the family now living, being 89 years and 4 days old.

She is survived by the following brother, and sister, Christian Holter, at whose home she died, who is well up in years, Mrs. Elizabeth Mahaffey who is neary 86.

The funeral took place on Thursday morning at ten o'clock from the house, and the sermon was preached in the Fairview church by the Rev. D. A. Artman, Interment in the Schenck Cemetery.

THE NEW BROOM BOOMS

Your Last Chance to Purchase Broom Stock

AT 50 CENTS A SHARE

AFTER JULY 6th THE PRICE WILL BE ADVANCED TO

60 CENTS A SHARE.

This Great International Industrial Monopoly Is Destined to Revolutionize the Broom Business of the World. Dividends of from 30 to 50 Per Cent. from Home Sales, Exports and Royalties. This is another Illustration of the Amazing Profits from Improved Processes of Making an Article in Common Use So That the Cost of Production is Lessened and Selling Price Increased. No Improvement in an Article of Everyday Use in the Household so Great Since the New Methods of Making Steel Were Discovered, and Everybody Knows What Fabulous Fortunes Have Been Made in Steel.

The New Broom is for Everybody, Every Place, Every Home, Every Purpose, Costs 20 to 30 Per Cent. Less to Make and can Sell for 20 to 25 Per Cent. More Than the Old Style.

With Its Contemplated Increased Manufacturing Facilities and Sub-Companies the Profits Can Be From 30 to 50 Per Cent.

In addition to the Brooklyn factory a new factory is being started in Ottawa, Canada, by the Canadian licensed company, under very profitable yearly royalties. $5,000 has already been paid by the Canadian Company. Full particulars of this to any intending investor.

Sanguine as we are, the quick action of the investing public has surprised us. We know that the NEW BROOM will be a Great Dividend Producer.

WHAT WE HAVE DONE.

1. We have secured patents, the incontestability of which is proved by photographic fac-similes of expert testimony from leading patent attorneys. This evidence is in our prospectus.
2. We have no mortgages or preferences. Money received from the sale of stock is to be used for the development of this Gigantic International Monopoly.
3. We are negotiating for plants in Cuba and in Paris, Berlin and other European cities.
4. The Brooklyn factory is filling orders from some of the biggest dealers in the United States. We also sell to railroad companies, fire departments and manufacturing corporations. When the new machinery ordered is installed and developments already contemplated are completed, our Brooklyn factory can turn out

2,000 Dozen Brooms a Day at a Profit of About $3,000 a Day.

30 per cent. of the total capitalization of the company can be made from one factory when it is in full operation. With other contemplated factories in Chicago, St. Louis, Atlanta, San Francisco and elsewhere, the output and profit will be at least doubled.

We offer you an investment that should produce DIVIDENDS OF FROM 30 TO 50 PER CENT. Photographic fac-similes of orders received are found in our Book of Proofs which we send on request.

THE GROCER SUPPLIES A NEW HANDLE.

BROOM DEALERS TAKE STOCK.

The character of the subscription is gratifying. We have heard from wholesale and retail dealers in brooms. They are interested parties and they know what the new broom signifies. Many professional people, leading women, public officials and other intelligent and conservative people have already subscribed this last week.

Critical judges recognize that we will revolutionize broommaking. While all other manufactures have been steadily improved, there had been practically no advance in a century in the making of brooms until we came into the field.

In place of the old stick to which the corn was fastened with wire, while cotton twine kept the broom from spreading, we have a detachable handle. If it breaks the dealer must supply another without charge. This improvement makes packing so economical that no space is lost. As the saving in freight is from one-half to two-thirds we can export brooms at a large profit, a thing that has not been done heretofore. Thus we open up to you the great markets of Europe and South America. The foreigner will pay a higher price for a good broom than the consumer at home will.

Improved machinery enables us to use the cheapest grades of corn, thus saving 40 per cent. in the cost of material. There is no waste. No skilled labor is needed, thus saving 60 per cent. in wages.

Many manufacturers of brooms will use our patents and pay us royalties

We shall enjoy a great International Industrial Monopoly, which is one of the most lucrative monopolies in the world.

PERFECT CLEANLINESS AND NO BACKACHE.

The manufacture of THE NEW BROOM is not an experiment, but an assured, demonstrated success. The Broom has been amply tested and is in every way satisfactory. As the Broom is a sure success, it will be a Great Dividend paying Industrial Monopoly. Because this Broom is profitable to use, therefore is the Stock of this Company profitable to buy.

Examine these Brooms as an article of every-day necessity. Try them, test them, prove them. Buy this stock, as its success is assured, and its Gigantic Profits Proven. The Broom is good—the stock is a money-maker.

STOCK NOW

50c. a Share.

On July 6th It Will Be Advanced to

60 Cents a Share

As we are thoroughly familiar with the plans and projects of the Company and the possibilities of THE NEW BROOM, we unhesitatingly declare that this stock should rapidly advance until it sells for $2 or $3 per share.

It is therefore advisable that intending investors who wish to investigate this proposition do so at an early date, before the second advance in price is announced. Those who subscribe now will be benefitted by the increase.

Intending investors can obtain full particulars and ample proof of the claims of this Company on application at our office.

THE STREET FAIR AND CARNIVAL

Weather Permitting It Will be a Big Success—Many Wonderful Attractions.

The Firemans Street Fair and Carnival, an event that has been looked forward to with interest for some time past, has arrived and our people, many of whom never saw an affair of this kind, are enabled to form their judgement of it. For the benefit of our readers we will give a brief description of this aggregation which has camped down in our midst.

In the first place as we all know it is under the auspices of the Undine Fire Company. It consists of nine different and distinct shows under the management and direction of the Hatch—Adams Midway Carnival Company. They carry 150 people and travel in eight cars. J. Frank Hatch is the General Manager, and James Adams is the Secretary. Cincinnatti is their head-quarters.

The attractions are many and varied. Those that are free are Prof. Bobby Marshall who dives from a lofty perch 91 feet high into 3 feet of water. The Great Adams, double trapeze actors. Prof. Rambey, the great balloonist and parachute jumper and the Hatch—Adams Military band.

There are nine tents as follows.

Mt. Pelee.—Everything in this feature show is reproduced by electricity, viz: The volcanic eruption of Mt. Pelee. To witness is to imagine you are in the ill fated City of St. Pierre. You see the fire and lava as it rolls down the mountain ide into the ill fated city and harbor, see the ships in the harbor burn to the water edge. A realistic, awe-inspiring exhibition. Then is produced our late President McKinley making his last public speech at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y. Then is produced McKinley's Funeral Coming from the church at Canton, Ohio, enroute to the cemetery, the last resting place of the immortal McKinley. Then comes the execution of Czolgosz, the assassin of our president. You see him in his cell at Auburn, N. Y., penitentiary; see the guards take him to the electric chair; the current is turned on and the assassin has paid the penalty. This greatest of all exhibitions is concluded by Miss Cora Vincent singing a popular success, illustrated, entitled "Hello Central, Give me Heaven."

Dot—This marvelous exhibition is mythology, where you witness a Marble Statue turn to a Beautiful, Living Lady, and vice versa, then to a beautiful cluster of Flowers. This exhibition is concluded by the statue singing the greatest of Chas. K. Harris' successes, "The Tie that Binds," illustrated.

Hall of Fame—In this theatre the Great Bunkerr reigns supreme. Bunkerr is too well known to dwell on, simply stating the show is composed of 8 Electric Dancers and beautiful electrical effects. The Dresses worn in these dances contain 1,000 yards of silk, and we might add Bunkerr's wardrobe is the finest in the theatrical world.

Dog and Monkey Circus—In this you see the funny dogs and monkeys that do everything but talk.

Snake Oid—"He eats 'em alive," is the by word with the people after seeing this wonderful freak.

Lunette, The Flying Lady—In here can be witnessed the lady that defies the laws of gravitation and flies through this theatre like a bird.

Old Plantation—In this theatre the negros entertain in songs, dances and medleys, in short, a reproduction of the negro part of an old plantation in the South before the war.

Streets of Cairo—In this feature of all expositions can be witnessed Turks, etc., in all the sports and pastimes of that far-off eastern country, the Orient.

Girl From Up There—This exhibition has been the feature midway show of the Omaha and Buffalo expositions.

All these tents are elegantly lighted by electricity.

The most of these attractions are located on the Diamond. Here you will find Mt. Pelee, Dot, Dog and Monkey circus, Snake Oid, Lunette, Old Plantation, The Streets of Cairo and The Girl from Up There. There is a Merry-Go-Around located at Aiken's corner. Down in front of the Bush House Prof. Bobby Marshall makes his high dive every afternoon at 4 o'clock and every night at 10:30 o'clock

Prof. McCherry will make his balloon ascension from the vicinity of the Glass Works Meadow each afternoon at 6:30.

There are also knife racks, ball racks, nigger heads, tintype gallery, fortune tellers, squawkers etc. The management however assured the Editor Monday night that no gamblers or sure-thing fakirs would be allowed about the place but that everything would be clean, moral and up-to-date.

It is hoped that fair weather may prevail during the week so that the Fire Company may receive good financial returns for the trouble and expense they have gone to in securing this attraction for Bellefonte.

The Annual Encampment of the State Guard.

The ten thousand State Militiamen of Pennsylvania have such a constituency of friends in the various communities from which they come, that their Annual Encampments are always patronized by a large number of visitors from all sections of the State. When a stranger first visits the Camp his interest is immediately attracted by a large tent which overshadows everything else on the field. He soon learns that this tent is the Camp Young Men's Christian Association provided by the State Committee of the Association. A visit to the tent reveals almost a model Association. There are the daily papers from the home towns of the Guardsmen, the illustrated Metropolitan weeklies and monthlies, the writing tables provided with stationery, pens and ink, post office accommodations, a variety of games such as are found in the home Association chess, checkers, crokinole, etc., together with a few outdoor games, base ball quoits, organ or piano and song books, ice water, etc. Each evening a gospel service is held in the tent conducted by one of the Secretaries in charge and always participated in by the Guardsmen. This entire outfit is provided by the Young Mens Christian Association free of charge to the Soldiery. That the men appreciate the privileges provided is evidenced from the fact that last summer at the Gettysburg Division Encampment more than 17,000 visits were made to the tents, 13,000 letters were written, and 3,000 attended the gospel services. About fifty men expressed their purpose to live the Christian life. These tents stand in the camp as constant reminders of the Christian faith, and its readiness to minister to and develop what is best in men irrespective of race, creed or condition; as a rallying place for the Christian men, and a foil from temptation to many who would surely be led into more injurious pastimes. Officers and men, from the Commander-in-chief to the private, have united in the heartiest commendation of the work done,

The cost of the work which is approximately $600.00 is provided entirely by gratuitous contributions. Readers of this paper who appreciate the work being done for the Guardsmen and who would like to assist in its conduct, can do so by sending contributions to James B. Bailey, Treasurer State Young Men's Christian Association, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Memorial Services.

On Sunday afternoon the members of Gregg Post No. 95, G. A. R. will hold Memorial services in their rooms at four o'clock, in memory of four of their departed comrades namely, Abraham Hamilton, C. P. Stonerode, Lawrence McEntire and Erastus Robb. The public is very cordially invited to these services.

A RESTLESS FEELING

It Is Felt by Wilmington Policemen Over Fear of What May Occur.

THE MAYOR LECTURES BOYS

Courts Acting Promptly and Several of Those Arrested for Taking Part in Disturbances are "Railroaded."

CONNELL RELEASED BY MAGISTRATE

Wilmington, Del., June 27.—The danger of further lawlessness as a result of the lynching of George F. White for the murder of Helen Bishop, and the arrest of a man on the charge of complicity in the lynching, has not yet passed. While there is no visible evidence that another outbreak will occur, yet there is a feeling of uneasiness among the police authorities, which has caused them to take extreme measures of a precautionary character to nip in the bud any further attempts of the whites to wage war on the blacks, or of the latter to retaliate. Late Friday afternoon every hotel keeper in the city was peremptorily ordered to suspend business until today.

In addition to this all other public places, such as billiard, pool and bowling alleys and the public library, were requested to close. This was generally done.

In line with the police precautions, Mayor Fisher made the following announcement:

'I hope the parents of boys, who have been in the habit of going out at nights, will realize that nearly all of the troubles which have occurred during the past few nights were caused chiefly by boys who did not feel the gravity of what they were doing, and that the parents of these boys will see to it that their sons remain at home in the evenings until order has been fully restored. Many of the boys are thoughtless, and while they have no malice, they are ready to take part in anything that savors of excitement. Usually they do it in the nature of a joke, but such conduct at present, at least, is dangerous. In my opinion much of the trouble could be averted if these boys were kept at home, and I feel that if they do not remain at home they, as well as others, will get hurt. This advice is given in the most friendly spirit. My whole object is to see that order is fully restored and to avert anything that will cause trouble."

Though the streets of the central portion of the city late Friday night, were filled with pedestrians, everything was quiet. The police are preventing the congregation of crowds by keeping everyone moving. The closing of the saloons and other public places had a tendency to fill the streets and cause knots of men to gather on the corners, but the police had no trouble in dispersing them. The patrolmen have orders not to be unnecessarily harsh in carrying out their orders, but if any one attempts to start trouble, their orders are to act promptly and sternly.

The lawless element among the colored people is largely blamed for the disorder of the last two nights. It is claimed that in certain parts of the town they marched through the streets and roughly handled any white person that dared stand in their way. On the other hand, the whites and some of the better class of the colored people are not held blameless. There have been instances during the last few days where white men and boys were the aggressors.

A race war is not looked for or feared by the police, They are only apprehensive that hoodlums either white or black, may start a fight which would attract a large crowd and which would then blossom into a general riot. The police have matters well in hand, and though they feel the situation is still dangerous, they think the worst is over.

Details from four companies of the Delaware National Guard are on duty in the armory, in this city, by order of Governor Hunn. Colonel Wickersham is in command. It was reported that the detail was summoned in order to prepare for the bringing out of the entire regiment in case of trouble. This was denied, however, by one of the guard officers, who said the soldiers were on duty for the solo purpose of protecting the arms and ammunition in the building.

It was feared that if a riot was started, an attack might be made on the armory and the place cleaned out of the munitions. The building is said to be well supplied with fire arms. The Delaware National Guard consists of only one regiment.

The streets here are absolutely deserted and have been so for several hours. There was no disorder of any kind whatever Friday night.

What Duke's Salary is For.

James Buchanan Duke is president of the Consolidated; also he is president of the American and Continental Companies. His year's salary is $50,000 from each of the two tobacco companies proper. Once a shareholder, turning sullen, asked Mr. Duke what he did for these salaries of an aggregate one hundred thousand dollars.

"I'm not paid those one hundred thousand dollars," said Mr. Duke, "for what I do, but for what I don't do. I'm paid for the mistakes I fail to make."—Everybody's Magazine.

SPLENDID CLOSING EXERCISES.

Many young hearts were made happy on Wednesday afternoon, as it marked the closing of the St. John's Parochial School of which nearly two hundred children attend. The exercises on this occasion were listened to by an immense crowd of people and the large hall was inadequate to accommodate only about half of those who wished to attend. The papal colors Purple and Yellow with "Old Glory" entwined, gloriously adorned the walls and stage. Beautiful flowers completed the decorations and made them perfect. The programme was as follows:

"Greeting to the Sacred Heart." Chorus
"The Spanish Mother"
Agnes Shaughnessy
"Cinderella in Wonderland" an operetta in three scenes.
Scene I
"Carlo" Joseph Cease
"Dixie Land" Young men
"The Deserter" Thos. Shaughnessy
Scene II
"Along Comes Liza" John Woods
"Fairies" Thirty young ladies
"A leap for Life" Scott Graham
"The Flag we Love" Young men
"The magnificat" Marie Gerrity

The cast was made up with young ladies and gentlemen who took their parts to perfection, especially Marie Gerrity as "Cinderella," and Edward Shields as "Prince Sunshine." The others who deserve special mentioning are Gertrude Crawford as "God-mother," and Scott Graham as the "Prince's Herald."

After the cantata Father McArdle awarded to thirty six scholars, prizes for reading, arithmetic, grammar, penmanship and deportment. Instead of giving the prizes in money as heretofore had been given the Reverend gentleman purchased writings of the very best Catholic authors and presented these to the scholars.

Some of the writings are:

Faith of our Fathers; Illustrated explanations of the Sacraments; Beauties of the Catholic church; Catholic Belief; Christian Education; Fabiola, Illustrated explanations of the Prayer and ceremonies of the Mass.

Father McArdle selected these books and purchased them from his own treasury. The afternoon's entertainment was the best ever given by this School and the teachers and scholars deserve the highest praise and credit.

BIGGEST SHIPS AFLOAT.

Palatial Liners to Be Built by English and German Companies.

Ocean steamers greater than the Cedric or the Celtic of the White Star line, now the largest vessels afloat, are planned by the Hamburg-American and the Cunard lines, says the New York Press. Neither boat is intended for record breaking. The Cunard liner will make the run from the Irish coast to New York in seven and a half days and the Hamburg craft will have a speed of about seventeen and a half knots. It is in preparation for the accommodation of these and similar vessels that the New York dock department has asked the permission of the war department to build piers at least 1,000 feet long in the North river. The proposed boats could not be docked unless the line is extended.

The Cedric and the Celtic are 700 feet long, 75 feet wide and 49 1-8 feet deep. The new Hamburg-American liner will be 725 feet long, 77 feet wide and 50 feet deep, and have a mean speed of seventeen and one-half knots, as against sixteen for the White Star liners. The Cunard vessel will have about the same measurements and speed. The German craft will be able to carry twice as many guests as the Waldorf-Astoria holds and will have three promenade decks, one a roof garden; fifty baths, a gymnasium, three smoking rooms, two libraries and two parlors for women.

Unquestionably Above Reproach.

Most wines upon the market are adulterated, sugared, watered or cooked. Speer's Wines are endorsed by the leading surgeons and hospital nurses as pure, no adulteration whatsoever. Wonderful for the aged, it prolongs their life.

Grangers as Students.

Michigan state grange has adopted James' "Practical Agriculture" as a textbook for lecture work during the present year. The lecturer of the state grange will have the co-operation of the professors and teachers of agriculture at the Michigan State Agricultural college in assisting in presenting the subjects of the several chapters so that the granges may obtain the most practical value possible from the use of the book. Two hundred and twenty-three copies of the textbook used last year were sent to subordinate granges in that state, and a much larger number will probably be called for. Thus are slowly forming the habits of study in the farm home.

GAS FROM FIR STUMPS

New Illuminant Discovered by Professor Frankforter.

HAS STRONG HEATING POWERS.

By Means of "Destructive Distillation" the Dean of Minnesota University's Chemistry School Removes Turpentine and Tar, and This Process Develops the Gas. Each Stump of Douglas Fir Worth $200.

Discovery of a new illuminating gas which can compete with coal gas for illuminating purposes, the detection of processes by which a new turpentine in limitless quantity and of properties permitting its general use in manufactures and the arts, can be produced from material formerly thought worthless, and the solution of the problem of utilizing the byproducts of the great Douglas fir, forests of which cover thousands of square miles of the Pacific northwest, are the recent achievements of Professor George P. Frankforter, dean of the school of chemistry of the University of Minnesota, says a St. Paul special dispatch to the New York Herald.

Professor Frankforter's discoveries are the result of many months of experiments in the western forests and in the laboratories of the state university and are of immense commercial value. They relate entirely to the utilization of stumps of the Douglas fir left by the lumbermen and until now thought to have no value. These stumps cover a tremendous area of western "cut over" timber lands, and so little have they been regarded that it has been the custom to burn them out to rid the land of them and to permit agricultural operations. The burning process left ash deposit which for several years robbed the soil of its agricultural values. For each stump burned Professor Frankforter announces the owners have thrown away the equivalent of $200.

The Douglas fir is one of the best of the western timber trees and is much sought for building purposes. Its lower portions are filled with a resinous pitch, and the portions containing the pitch deposits have been valueless for lumber because of the impossibility of forcing the saws through the pitch soaked fibers of the log. For this reason the lumbermen have cut the trees, frequently eight to ten feet in diameter, at a height of twenty feet from the ground. This left the pitch soaked stump standing, to be burned or allowed to rot away.

Announcing the results of his discoveries, Professor Frankforter said the other day:

"It has long been known that the pitch in the abandoned stumps had a commercial value, but means of extracting it have not been at hand. It was to provide these means that I spent months experimenting. I have been astounded to find, by exact scientific methods, that 40 per cent of the abandoned stumps is valuable pitch. This pitch, properly treated, produces a turpentine inestimably superior to that now obtained from the southern forests, the supply of which is decreasing year by year.

"The new turpentine has all the chemical and medicinal qualities of the common commercial turpentine, but is absolutely free from its disagreeable smell and taste. These two features have been the greatest drawback to the more general use of turpentine in manufactures and the arts. The odor of the fir turpentine is mild and balsamic, and its taste is mild and pleasant. It might be utilized in a thousand ways, even in chewing gum and for soda fountain flavors, so pleasant is its taste.

"To give tersely the results, I will say that each stump contains 40 per cent of its bulk in pitch. It contains five or six cords of wood. Of the pitch in the stump 20 per cent can easily be resolved into turpentine, 30 per cent into tar oil and 50 per cent into common tar. The tar is an excellent product and can find ready sale. The minor product is pyroligneous acid, containing acetic acid.

"All the products of the fir stumps can be removed by what is technically known as 'destructive distillation.' One of the most marvelous features is that during the distillation process the fir gives out a gas of strong heating and illuminating powers, sufficient to maintain the process and furnish the means of extracting the products desired for commercial purposes. The distillation pays for itself and leaves the products of the pitch practically clear profit.

"After all the products have been extracted—turpentine, tar oil, tar, acids, gas—there is still left a charcoal the superior of which is hard to find. Regarding the gas given off, it is a strong illuminant, and with reduction operations carried on on a large scale it would be produced in volume sufficient to conduct extensive gas lighting operations.

"A new source of turpentine at this juncture is especially important. I have made thorough tests of the western product and am able to announce that the south has a new competitor in the field which will supply a better article and in larger quantity than it has ever been able to do. The United States yearly supplies three-fourths of all the turpentine used throughout the world."

Professor Frankforter has been conducting his experiments at New Whatcom, Wash., where there are large mills and extensive forests.

TRAGEDY OF ANIMAL LIFE.

Something Pathetic In the Career of the Passenger Pigeon.

To him who knows the story of the passenger pigeon this group of beautiful, grayish brown birds with the iridescent golden sheen upon their throats is the last word of a tragedy of animal life. America was once the land of the wild pigeon. Early American writers are full of references to it. Alexander Wilson, the father of American ornithology, estimated that a flock seen by him in 1808 contained over 2,000,000 individuals. It stretched from the horizon to the horizon, as far as the eye could see, and was over four hours in passing a given point. He saw a nesting colony forty miles long and several miles in width.

In 1805 Audubon saw schooners at the wharfs in New York loaded not in packages, but in bulk, with wild pigeons caught up the Hudson river and sold for a cent apiece. Up to 1890 the bird continued fairly abundant. Then a frightful slaughter began to supply an increased food demand. Gun, pole, club, net and sulphur pot were employed. Thirty dozen birds were captured at one spring of the net. One man netted 500 dozen in one day. In the nesting season trees were shaken or felled and wagon loads of squab taken nightly, droves of hogs being turned in to utilize what the "hunters" had left. Wherever the distracted flocks appeared the slaughter began. At the last known large pigeon "nesting," in 1878, a billion birds were killed during the season. Like the bison, it was effectually exterminated, showing the terrible efficiency of man when he sets out systematically in pursuit of a lower species.—New York Post.

DREDGING MANILA HARBOR.

Interesting Relics Fished Up by a Big Dredger.

The great hydraulic dredger now at work filling the section of the harbor at Manila that is to be reclaimed has, since it begun operations, brought some queer objects to the surface, but nothing more interesting or valuable than an old quadrant brought up a few days ago, says the Manila Times. The old nautical instrument bore the date of 1603 and was in a perfect state of preservation. It was made of gun metal, and was evidently lost by one of the ancient galleons some time in the seventeenth century. It was turned over to Engineer Popa, who had it cleaned and who counts it a great treasure.

Before the big dredger was started a receptacle for any heavy objects taken up by the pumps was fitted up, and some very interesting articles have been dropped into it and saved by the workmen. Many old shells and cannon balls have been found and a number of old ship's fittings have also been raised. The dredger is working in the neighborhood of an old anchorage, and it is expected that during the progress of the extensive harbor work many things of interest and possibly of value will be brought to the surface.

AMPUTATION RECOMMENDED

But a Better, Safer Method Found.

For twenty years I was an awful sufferer from Varicose veins and ulcers on my leg. For twelve winters I sat in a chair, my leg pained me so I could not lie down.

The doctors began to say I would never use it again.

Others advised amputating my leg to prevent gangrene from setting in.

One day I read of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I bought a bottle and commenced taking it.

And I surely believe if I had not taken Favorite Remedy I would not be alive today. My leg healed up entirely and I am now well and strong.

It has made many permanent cures of nervous debility, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, rheumatism and of the sicknesses peculiar to women, where other treatments have failed. For headaches, constipation and that run down condition, there is nothing else half so good as this great kidney and liver medicine."

The union journeymen plumbers of Johnstown are on a strike, their object being, according to the Johnstown Democrat, to compel their employers to recognize the union.

The body of John Schilling was found in a clump of laurel bushes about four miles south of Nicktown, Cambria county, Saturday morning. The man, who was aged about 75 years, disappeared from his home in Barr township last September and has not been seen since. The body was very badly decomposed.

Indications are that Allison O. Smith elected two-thirds of the delegates at the democratic primaries of Clearfield county, and his nomination for judge is assured. He carried three of the four wards there, all the wards of DuBois and most of the centres of population in the county.

Herman, the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neely, of Renovo, tripped on a sidewalk, Friday evening about 6 o'clock and was seriously injured. The little fellow had purchased a clay pipe, which he placed in his mouth while on his way home. In falling the stem of the pipe entered one of his eyes, nearly driving the eyeball from the socket.

The Ebensburg correspondent of the Johnstown Democrat says: Captain Thomas Davis is seriously ill at his home in the West ward and his condition is regarded as very dangerous. He has been suffering for about two weeks with a carbuncle on his neck and during the past few days complications have developed that give his friends and physician much concern. Captain Davis is 70 years of age and until this occurrence has enjoyed the most rugged health, with the exception of some troubles arising from injuries during his service in the army.

Mrs. Mary Ettinger, aged about 40, of Burnham, Mifflin county, made her third attempt at self-destruction Saturday night, when she tried to leap from the top of the county bridge into the Juniata river. H. C. Welsh noted her peculiar actions while passing his store near the bridge and followed her out on the structure. He was just in time to catch her as she was preparing to leap. Mrs. Ettinger made an attempt to take poison on the street on Wednesday and was locked up in the county jail until Her husband could be notified and take her in charge. While there she told the sheriff's wife that she had eaten half a saucer of carpet tacks on Monday. Her story is corroborated by her 7 year-old daughter, who says she saw her mother swallow the tacks.

The Home Paper.

Here is the estimate which United States Senator David Davis, of Illinois, places upon the local newspaper. Every year every local paper gives from five hundred to five thousand free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor in proportion to his means does more for his town than any other man, he and in all fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported—not because you happen to like him or admire his writing, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be crowded with great thought, but financially it is of more benefit than both preacher and teacher. To-day's editors do more for less pay than any men on earth, Patronize your home paper, not as a charity but as an investment. A progressive newspaper is a valuable asset to any community. A progressive newspaper is quick to realize the importance of supporting such a paper.

KILLED AT RENOVO

The principal topic of conversation in Lock Haven Friday was the fatal shooting at Renovo at an early hour Friday morning of William Ryan, a Lock Haven young man, who for some time past has been working in the paint department of Renovo shops. The tragedy occurred shortly after midnight in front of the First National bank on Erie avenue, and was, it is alleged, the result of an argument between the dead man and Policeman Michael Crowley, who fired the fatal shot.

It appears from reports received that Ryan and several friends had been drinking during the evening and about midnight when indulging in loud talk along the thoroughfare Policeman Crowley came along and remonstrated with the young men, telling them that owing to the lateness of the hour they should be more discreet and not disturb the people.

It is alleged that Ryan became very abusive and at once assaulted the officer, who is a man of about 60 years of age. It is said Ryan knocked Crowley down and that the officer drew his revolver and fired in self defense, the bullet striking Ryan in the stomach.

The report of the revolver immediately attracted the attention of a number of persons and the wounded man was at once removed to the Municipal hospital and physicians summoned. All that was possible was done for him but he died within an hour.

Officer Crowley, who is a night watchman, and guarded the business houses of Renovo merchants, was placed under arrest, and is now confined in the borough lockup, pending the result of the inquest.

The young man is a nephew of E. A. Monaghan, a prominent Lock Haven capitalist and a brother of City Auditor E. A. Ryan. His unfortunate and untimely end is deeply regretted by his many friends. On receiving intelligence of the regrettable affair, Mr. Monaghan and Mr. Ryan left for Renovo on the early morning train and will have the body prepared for shipment after the inquest.

New Coach for the Bellefonte Central

Supt. F. H. Thomas has in course of construction at the Railroad shops, a combination baggage and passenger coach which will be a great addition to the passenger service of that road.

The coach is much larger than any they have in use, and is divided into three compartments, one for baggage, another for smoker and the third for passenger.

The baggage will occupy about 17ft. the smoker will be 7½ by 8 ft with comfortable seats on three sides and capable of accommodating 8 to 10 persons, the part intended for passengers will seat comfortably, about twenty-five passengers, and will be handsomely finished in oak, the seats covered with old gold plush, lighted by the latest improved double burner chandeliers, and heated with a Bakers hot water heater. At one end will be a large bevel plate glass mirrors. The windows are 2½ by 3 feet and so arranged as to be hoisted about six inches, inside of these, there will be patent self adjusting shades.

The outside will be painted the same color as are the Pullman coaches, with the name of the road in large gilt letters.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Many of the churches in Bellefonte on Sunday observed Children's Day with beautiful and appropriate services. All the services were well attended.

THE UNITED BRETHREN.

The U. B. Children's Day services which were held Sunday evening were unusually interesting and instructive and were listened to by an appreciative audience which filled the pretty little church almost to overflowing. The recitations were very fine, and the decorations were beautiful and consisted of arches and steps covered with flowers on which were seated thirty children. Music was furnished by a choir of sixteen accompanied by the organ and was very interesting throughout. The program was as follows:

Song "Praise the Lord"
Recitation, Sue Dawson.

REFORMED.

Children's Day exercises were held in the Reformed church Sunday morning and were largely attended and very interesting. The floral decorations were beautiful and the exercises and music of a high order. A beautiful feature of the services was the march by fifty children dressed in white who marched up the aisle singing, "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

A. M. E. CHURCH.

Children's Day Services in the A. M. E. church Sunday evening were unusually good. An excellent programme was rendered and the church was handsomely decorated in honor of the event.

THE LUTHERAN.

The Children's Day services in the Lutheran Church Sunday evening were a decided success. The music with the orchestra was of the finest and delighted all, the children all acquitted themselves remarkably well. The decorations were very artistic. The church and sunday school rooms were crowded with an appreciative audience. The pastor made a brief address. A liberal offering was made for the benefit of the Lutheran Orphan Home at Loysville Pa.

Fell Through Coal Hole.

On Sunday evening about half past eight Zelda Bunkerer, one of the performers with the Hatch-Adams Carnival Company, while coming down High street in front of Brouse's store in the Bush Arcade stepped on the iron grating over a coal hole which quickly tilted with him letting him through and injuring him quite severely. The man was unconscious for some time. Dr. R. G. H. Hayes happened along at this time and took charge of him. He was taken to the Haag House where his injuries were attended to. His ankle was severely sprained and he was bruised about the body but no bones were broken.

It is reported that a young lady previously fell at the same place. J. S. McCargar, the insurance agent also fell through one of these coal holes and severely bruised himself.

The property owners should be notified to take the proper precautions to prevent recurrence of such accidents.

Bunkerer, the injured man is known among the show men as "The Great Bunker" and is a female impersonator with the Carnival Company.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

BLACKFORD—HEVERLY.

Quiet Wedding Ceremony Followed by Brilliant Banquet and Reception.

One of the most brilliant receptions and banquets ever held in Bellefonte followed the quiet wedding ceremony which united in marriage Clyde Blackford of this city, and Miss Daisy Heverly, of Axe Mann, The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's father, F. S. Heverly, at Axe Mann, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock by Dr. William Laurie, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Only the immediate families of the contracting parties were present.

Mr. Paul Fortney, a friend of the groom acted as best man, while Miss Grace Blackford, the groom's sister was bridesmaid.

The bride was very becomingly attired in Paris muslin, trimmed with Valencennes lace. The bridesmaid was attired in a very pretty costume similar to the brides.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to Bellefonte and at once entered their own cosy little home adjoining Mr. Blackford's place of business on East Bishop street. The groom had furnished the house entirely new throughout, and it also was newly papered and painted, presenting a handsome and inviting appearance.

A reception and banquet ensued which was attended by about 500 people. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Blackford after which they were escorted to the eating parlor where a banquet of several courses was served. C. F. Harrison was the head caterer. The reception lasted from 6:30 until 10:00 o'clock and during all this time the Bellefonte orchestra furnished delightful music. The orchestra was made up as follows: Fred Weaver, Mr. Graham, Henry Brown, Louis Hill, Frank Dietrick.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents. She is a pretty and accomplished young lady and will make an excellent helpmate to her husband.

The groom is in the restaurant business here and is a very popular young man. This paper joins the many friends in tendering congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Blackford and wishes them a safe and happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Nervous Headache Breeds Insanity

Many a person's whole pleasure in life is ruined by the fear of nervous headache. Any little excitement, no matter what, business or social, brings them on. The feet and hands grow cold, the head is hot, the eyes stiff, the temples throb and only in the quiet of a darkened room is relief obtained. This condition must be checked or it means complete mental ruin. To those people Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills come as a blessing. They do not stop, they cure headaches. They do not blanket, they build up. They put the nervous system in a strong, vigorous, sturdy condition—a condition that gives one resistive power and enables them to again enjoy life's pleasures.

Miss Jennie Zettlemoyer, of No. 300 North 4th Street, Sunbury, Pa., says: "I have been troubled a long time with nervousness and at times would be so bad that I simply could not rest at night. I also was bothered a great deal with nervous headaches. I got some of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and they did me a world of good. I used two boxes in all and as a result I rest well again—the nerves are quiet, steady and firm again. The headaches cured and the system vigorous and strong So excellent a result makes a recommendation an easy matter."

—On Saturday Thomas Beaver, lost a fine horse, which fell dead on Bishop street.

—The plumbing is being ruffed in by R. J. Schad & Bros., in Clyde Smith's new home on East Bishop street.

—Joseph Rightnour, caught a trout 14 inches long and weighing 2¼ pounds. It was caught in Spring Creek.

—Gentry Brother's circus purchased Tom Beaver's big gray team on Saturday and took them with the show.

—Albert Confer, of the Ridges while fooling with a cannon made out of junk, had his face and neck badly burned, and will lose the sight of one eye.

—The new steps at the stone school building is a big improvement to the beautiful grounds that surround this institution of learning.

—Margaret Emigh, of Loveville, was operated on for appendicitis at the Bellefonte Hospital on Tuesday afternoon and is reported as getting along nicely.

—The plans for the new Y. M. C. A., building at this place have arrived and are now on exhibition in one of the windows at Sheffer & Sons grocery.

—Mrs. Heaton, of Peru, is the heroine of the hour in and about Pleasant Gap and Peru. The other day a large black snake entered her kitchen and she killed it.

—What's the secret of happy, vigorous health. Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.

—Friday night the first dance of the season was given at Hecla Park. There was a large attendance and the occasion proved an enjoyable one. The Bellefonte Orchestra furnished the music.

—In the Presbyterian church Sunday evening, Miss Margaret McGee, of McGee's Mills, favored her hearers with a beautiful solo. Miss McGee has a rich voice under excellent control and it is a pleasure to listen to her.

—Reynold Shope who runs a large saw mill and is at present cutting timber on the A. O. Furst farm expects to finish his present job and remove to another tract this week. The mill gives employment to quite a number of men and its operations are of interest to many.

—If you want to see something interesting, step into Olewine's Hardware store and see their new Hub Box attachment. It is a patent Mr. Diehl and Mr Olewine have secured and it is something everyperson owning a rig can make good use of. It is worth your time investigating.

—The Milesburg Hook and Ladder Company will hold a big festival on the evening of July 25th. The fire laddies are deserving of best kind of patronage and the people of Milesburg and vicinity should turn out and assist them in every way. They will chance off a porch swing.

—Capt. Taylor and 24 of the boys of Co. B presented a fine appearance while drilling on the diamond Friday evening. The boys made a good showing in their Kahi uniforms, and their marching was with the precision of a pendulumn. Every Friday evening until camp the company will have full uniform drill.

—Miss Helen Schaeffer, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Schaeffer, sang a very sweet solo in the Methodist church Sunday morning. Miss Schaeffer has been taking a course of music in the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music. She has a richly cultivated voice and her hearers were greatly pleased with her singing. In the evening Mrs. Harris Mann, of Lewistown, sang a selection in her usual excellent style. Mrs Mann is no stranger to a Bellefonte audience but it is sometime sincewe have had the pleasure of listening to her. She ably sustained her reputation Sunday night. Mrs. Mann was formerly Miss Annie Speer, and is a daughter of Ex County Treasurer W. T. Speer of this place.

—The most remarkable run in the history of railroading by a freight train of seventy-eight loaded cars was made on Wednesday of last week over the Middle division from Altoona to Harrisburg, the 132 miles being covered in six hours and thirty minutes. This is unprecedented time for a train of the size and weight, though better time than this has been made over the same division by trains of not more than thirty cars. The engine hauling the train was in charge of Engineer George K. Funk and Fireman Tilden Stressley, both of Harrisburg, The train left Altoona at 2.30 p. m. and rolled into Harrisburg yards at 9.00 o'clock. Once between the starting point and Harrisburg the train was brought to a stopto refill the engine's tank with water and renew the coal supply—then off again on its dash towards its destination.

—The days will now begin to grow shorter each day.

—Mrs. John Stover found a large black snake in her summer kitchen.

—Mrs. Louis Lounsberry had her Sunday School class at Hecla Park Friday.

—Junior Class of the Bellefonte High School held a picnic Friday at Hecla Park.

—See notice in another part of this issue of a farm for sale, located near Bellefonte.

—Joe McCulley, found a live snapping turtle in the cellar of his home on Bishop street Friday morning.

—Geo. C. Wise Jr., of Baltimore, Md., a minister in the Society of Friends, spent Sunday in Bellefonte.

—Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. At any drug store.

—The many friends of John Anderson Sr. will be glad to learn that he has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to walk out in the open air.

—Saturday's Philadelphia Press contained an excellent picture and sketch of James G. Taylor, of Bellefonte, the newly appointed cadet to West Point from this Congressional District.

—A little life may be sacrificed to an hour's delay. Cholera infantum, dysentery, diarrhœa come suddenly. Only safe plan is to have Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry always on hand.

—On Wednesday evening a jolly crowd of young people left the home of Miss Bessie Gray, at Tyrone, and enjoyed a tallyho ride to Port Matilda where they were very pleasantly entertained by Miss Lucy Cowher. All enjoyed a good time and had lots of fun. They returned to their homes in time for breakfast.

—Mary DeVinne, a little deaf and dumb girl of Allen's Lane, Pa., while on her way to Peru, Juniata County, got off by mistake at Peru Centre county. Finding out the mistake Conductor Reamer brought her on to Bellefonte where she stayed all night with Mr. and Mrs. Leepard of East Lamb street.

—You have heard the experience the old negro told in meeting: "I prayed night after night for de good Lawd to sen' me a Thanksgiving turkey, but I prayed in vain. Then at last I prayed de good Lawd to sen' me where de turkey was, and de berry nex' night de turkey was ready for de oven."—Selected.

—Miss Lizzie Morrison, who for the past eleven years has been stamp clerk for the local board of fire insurance underwriters is going to Williamsport where she has accepted the position as stamp clerk in the general office of the State Underwriters Association. This will necessitate her leaving Bellefonte which will be a source of regret to her many friends.

—Pine Grove experienced the heaviest rain fall in its history shortly after noon on Wednesday. The water fell in sheets, flooding the low-lands and turning the little drains into raging torrents. Some hail fell, but not enough to do any damage. The devastation caused by the water was very great. Fields were ruined and some cattle drowned. Later in the afternoon parts of Nittany valley experienced a similar storm, but Bellefonte had only passing showers.

—At the recent commencement of Lafayette college, at Easton, Pa. George W. Twilmyer superintendent of schools of Wilmington, Del., and who was born and raised at Zion, Pa., received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, upon the completion of the graduate work required at that institution. His twin sons Geo. E and JosephC. were graduated in the latin scientific, and chemical courses, respectively, at the same time. The other son, Dr. Edwin B., who is now an instructor in the department of philosophy in the University of Pennsylvania, graduated from the same college with the class of '96.

—William C. Shope, who was sentenced to pay a fine of $20 and go to the western penitentiary for two years and four months, at Hollidaysburg, last week, was once a resident of this place. He was convicted of robbing the One Price store in Altoona and part of the defense set up was that as a little boy he had fallen out of a second story window of the Bush House in this place and has not been altogether right since. He served a term in the penitentiary, and was at the Warren institution for the insane for some time, but according to the evidence of the warden of that institution Shope was only feigning insanity.

—Clearfield's military organization, Company E of the Fifth Regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania has been disbanded and the property belonging to the state has been turned over to Major John H. West of Holidaysburg, commanding the first battalion of the regiment. Captain Elmer K. Roop, late adjutant of the Fifth, has been at work in Altoona for some time doing things with a view to re-organizing the company in that city. The disbanded company was commanded by Captain F. Gurney Smith, a Tyrone boy who graduated at West Point some years ago in the class with Captain M. B. Stewart, now of the Eighth U. S. infantry, who inspected Sheridan Troop recently. There were present less than thirty men of the Clearfield company when Captain Stewart inspected it.—Tyrone Herald.

CAUGHT IN CUPID'S NET.

Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock Miss Emma J. Graham daughter of Mrs. Mary Graham was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. George H. Lawrence of Cooperstown, N. D. by Rev. William Laurie D. D. LL. D. It was a very quiet affair only the immediate family of Miss Graham's being present. She looked very charming in a cadet blue traveling gown trimmed in Persian bands. Miss Graham is one of Bellefonte's popular young ladies, who enjoys the acquaintance of a host of friends who wish her great joy and happiness through life.

Mr. Lawrence is a wealthy ranch man from the far west, and they say quite a romance is connected with this happy marriage. They left on 4:44 train and will visit friends for a few weeks on their way to the west where they will make their future home.

A Girl's Bravery.

Through the bravery and prompt action of Miss Mabel Garbrick a serious fire was averted Monday afternoon. Miss Garbrick makes her home with District Attorney N. B. Spangler and about 5 o'clock she lighted the coal oil stove in the kitchen preparatory to getting supper. She then went to the front door for a few minutes and when she returned was startled by finding the kitchen all ablaze. The coal oil stove had exploded.

The hydrant is located in one corner of the kitchen and Miss Garbrick ran to this where she secured water and by her own efforts, she being alone in the house, succeeded in extinguishing the flames but not until after she had burned herself quite severely about the face and arms.

The kitchen walls and furniture received a bad scorching and there is no doubt but what the promptness and presence of mind shown by Miss Garbrick averted a serious conflagration.
